Introduction

On April 1, 2010, the U.S. Census Bureau conducted the 23rd national census. The decennial census is the only national survey providing consistent, uniform measures and data for every geographic area in the nation. The results capture a picture in time of Utah; who we are, how we have changed, and the direction we are heading.

Race and Ethnicity in Utah is the third in a series of the 2010 Census Briefs to provide detailed analysis of Utah the 2010 Census data. This report contains tables, figures, and maps showing current and historical population data by race and ethnicity for the United States, and all 50 states, as well as Utah's counties, cities, and census designated places (CDPs).

Background

As a result of the revised standards for collecting data on race and ethnicity issued by the U.S. Office of Management and Budget in 1997, the 2010 Census was the second national census in which respondents were allowed to select more than one race to indicate mixed racial heritage. The 2010 Census asked respondents to choose which race or races they most closely identify. Respondents could also choose an ethnicity, either Hispanic or Latino or Not Hispanic or Latino. The federal government considers race and Hispanic origin to be two separate and distinct concepts. Hispanics or Latinos may be of any race. The six categories for race in the 2010 Census are White; Black or African American; American Indian or Alaska Native; Asian; Native Hawaiian or other Pacific Islander; and Some Other Race. The "Some Other Race" category was included in the 2010 Census for respondents who were unable to identify with the five other races. Respondents that selected more than one race are included in the "Two or More Races" category.

According to the Census Bureau, the data collected from the 2010 Census on race can be divided into two broad categories: the race alone population, and the race in combination population. Respondents who indicated only one race on the questionnaire are referred to as the race alone population. Individuals that chose more than one of the six race categories are referred to as the race in combination population. The data and analysis presented in this report focus on the race alone population when analyzing population changes that have occurred from 2000 to 2010.

Several tables in this Census Brief report population totals based on the "minority population." When calculating and analyzing census data on race and ethnicity, the Governor's Office of Planning and Budget defines the minority population as any person other than White Alone Not Hispanic or Latino.

United States

During the 2010 Census, over 308 million people were counted in the U.S., increasing 9.7% from 2000. Nationwide, the majority of respondents (97.1%) selected only one race on the 2010 Census questionnaire. Among those that selected one race, 72.4% were White, followed by Black or African American (12.6%), Asian (4.8%), American Indian or Alaska Native (0.9%), and Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander (0.2%). Those that selected Some Other Race in 2010 accounted for 6.2% of respondents.

The fastest growing race over the decade was the Asian category, which increased 43.3% nationwide. Native Hawaiian and Other Pacific Islander was second with 35.4% followed by Two or more races (32.0%), Some Other Race (24.4%), American Indian and Alaska Native (18.4%), Black or African American (12.3%), and White (5.7%).

Among the nation's Asian population, the third largest racial group, most identified themselves as Chinese, followed by Filipino, Asian Indian, Other Asian, Vietnamese, Korean, and Japanese. Most respondents in the Native Hawaiian and Other Pacific Islander category identified themselves as Native Hawaiian, followed by Samoan, and Guamanian or Chamorro.

The nation's Hispanic population increased 43.0% over the decade, from 35.3 million in 2000 to 50.5 million in 2010. Hispanics now make up 16.3% of the nation's population, continues to surpass Black or African Americans (12.6%) as the nation's largest minority group. In 2000, Black or African Americans accounted for 12.3% of the nation's population, while Hispanics made up 12.5%. In 1990, Black or African Americans accounted for 12.1% of the nation's population, while Hispanics made up only 9.0%.

Among the Hispanic population nationwide, Mexican continued to be the largest group, accounting for 73.5% of all Hispanics, followed by Other Hispanic (14.8%), Puerto Rican (8.0%), and Cuban (3.6%). Population growth varied among the Hispanic groups, with Mexicans representing the fastest growing group over the decade, increasing by 54.1%. Cubans increased by 43.8% and Puerto Ricans by 35.7%.

State of Utah

Utah's population reached 2,763,885 in 2010, increasing 23.8% over the decade. Utah grew more than twice as fast as the U.S. over the decade, and was the third fastest growing state in the country. The majority of Utahns (97.3%) selected only one race in 2010. Among those that selected one race, 86.1% were White. Asians in Utah were the second largest race in 2010, at 2.0%, followed by American Indian or Alaska Native (1.2%), Black or African American (1.1%), and Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander (0.9%). Those that selected Some Other Race accounted for 6.0% of respondents in the state.

The state's fastest growing race in the 2000s was Black or African American, which increased 65.9%, from 17,657 in 2000 to 29,287 in 2010. The second fastest growing race in Utah over the decade was Native Hawaiian and other Pacific Islander, which increased 62.1%, followed by Asian (49.0%), White (19.4%), and American Indian and Alaska Native (10.9%). Some other race increased 78.5% from 2000 to 2010.

The Hispanic or Latino population in Utah increased 77.8% from 2000 to 2010, growing faster than the Hispanic population nationwide. Hispanics or Latinos, the largest minority group in the state, now make up 13.0% of the state's total population, compared to 9.0% of the population in 2000. Mexicans continued to be the largest group in the state, accounting for 72.3% of all Hispanics, and increasing 89.8%, from 136,416 in 2000 to 258,905 in 2010. Other Hispanic or Latinos were the second largest group in the state, accounting for 25.2% of Hispanics, Puerto Rican (2.0%), and Cuban (0.5%).

Utah's Counties

All of Utah's 29 counties experienced population growth in the 2000s, ranging from a high of 54.7% in Wasatch County, to a low of 0.8% in Millard County. Among counties nationwide, Wasatch County ranked 26th in population growth over the decade and Washington County, which grew 52.9% from 2000 to 2010, ranked 29th in the nation.

Wasatch County had the fastest growing Hispanic population (310.8%) over the decade, growing almost four times the state rate, and over seven times the U.S. rate. With the exception of Daggett County, where the number of Hispanics actually decreased (-29.8%), all of Utah's counties experienced increases in Hispanics. Washington County, with the second fastest growing Hispanic population, increased 185.3% from 2000 to 2010, followed by Rich (166.7%), Uintah (160.6%), Iron (157.6%), and Wayne (132.0%).

In Salt Lake County, Hispanics made up 17.1% of the total population in 2010, the largest percentage among counties, followed by Weber (16.7%), Wasatch (13.5%), Millard (12.8%), and Carbon (12.4%). In 2000, Weber led the state at 12.9%, in the number of Hispanics as a percent of total population.

Utah's Cities

The majority of Utah's cities and towns experienced population growth from 2000 to 2010. Saratoga Springs, in Utah County, led the way among the state's largest cities (greater than 9,000). The population in Saratoga Springs increased by more than 16 times from 2000 to 2010. Several other of the state's largest cities, all located along the Wasatch Front, doubled in size over the decade, including Herriman (1330.4%), Eagle Mountain (892.8%), Cedar Hills (216.6%), Syracuse (158.9%), West Haven (158.4%), Lehi (149.1%), and Washington (129.2%).

As a percent of the total population in cities in 2010, Wallsburg in Wasatch County and Cleveland in Emery County ranked first with Whites, accounting for 99.6% of the population in those cities. South Salt Lake in Salt Lake County had the highest percent of the population (4.4%) as Black or African American in 2010. Blanding in San Juan County ranked first among cities with 29.4% of the population as American Indian or Alaska Native. Bryce Canyon City in Tooele County ranked first in 2010 with Asians, accounting for 18.7% of the total population. West Valley City also ranked first among Utah's cities with the highest percent of their total population (3.6%) as Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander in 2010.

Among the Hispanic or Latino population in Utah's cities, Hideout in Wasatch County had the highest percent of their total population (77.0%) as Hispanic in 2010, followed by Wendover in Tooele County (68.3%), West Valley in Salt Lake County (33.1%), Ogden in Weber County (30.1%), and South Salt Lake City in Salt Lake County (29.1%).

Utah's Census Designated Places (CDPs)

Census Designated Places (CDPs) are delineated for each decennial census as the statistical counterparts of incorporated places in order to provide data for settled concentrations of population that are identifiable by name but are not legally incorporated under the laws of the state in which they are located. The boundaries usually are defined in cooperation with the local or tribal officials. CDP boundaries may change from one decennial census to the next with changes in the settlement pattern; a CDP with the same name as in an earlier census does not necessarily have the same boundary.

Among the state's largest CDPs (greater than 5,000), the Kearns CDP had the largest number of minorities as a percent of the total population (41.3%) in 2010, followed by the Magna CDP (29.7%), Millcreek CDP (17.0%), White City CDP (15.0%), and Snyderville CDP (12.8%).
